

DEAR DELANEY FAMILIES,

I miss making art with my students! I hope you will continue to make art with me at home! If you are interested, I have designed some optional, creative activities here for you to enjoy.

If you wish to share your work, please feel free to email me any photos of your artsy fun, or tag @delaneyartroom in any photos on Instagram. I will post some of my finished projects from these activities and share some of yours as well! You can also simply hold on to any pictures to share with me in person when we're back in school!

I also recommend checking out Lunch Doodles with Mo Willems on YouTube and the Art for Kids Hub YouTube channel for some draw-along activities.

Remember art is about having fun.
Everyone's artwork is different, which makes it really special.

Take good care

Sincerely,

Mrs. Langley-Haner

RAINBOW COLLECTION

R-O-Y-G-B-I-V

Books: available read aloud online

- My Many Colored Days by Dr. Suess
- The Day the Crayons Quit by Drew Daywalt
- Planting a Rainbow by Lois Ehlert
- My Color is Rainbow by Agnes Hsu

Step 1: What are the colors of the rainbow? Do you have any ideas where you can find objects around your home that have those colors?

Step 2: Go on a rainbow adventure hunt! Start with red - find 3-5 red things! Next, orange! Yellow, green, blue, indigo and violet. Indigo is a blue-ish purple-ish color and violet is mostly purple.

Step 3: Collect all of the colorful objects and arrange them in the order of the rainbow.

Step 4: Take a picture of this beautiful rainbow and share it with me! Check out mine below!

Step 5: Carefully return all items where they belong!

DESIGN A MAP IN YOUR HOME

Book: My Map Book by Sara Fanelli available read aloud online

Step 1: Sit in your bedroom, or another room in your home, and close your eyes. Take 3 deep breaths.

Step 2: Can you picture what your room looks like without seeing it? Think about any furniture, rugs, clothing, toys - as many details as you can.

Step 3: Open your eyes. What were some things you remembered? What about some things you forgot?

Step 4: Now draw a map of the room with as much detail as you can.

Step 5: What other maps could you make? A map of your neighborhood? A map of your day? A map of your heart?

Here's a map of my kitchen!

DRAW YOUR PET OR TOY ANIMAL!

I would love to see a drawing of your pet, a favorite stuffed animal, or even a super cute animal from your imagination!

My doggie Sadie!

TELL ME A STORY

These are two illustrations by one of my favorite artists, Rebecca Green. Use your imagination to make up a story about each picture. What's happening in the picture? What happened right before? What's going to happen next?

PLATE PORTRAITS WITH FOUND

youngschoolartwithmr.g

...

Step 1: Pick a plate and collect a bunch of objects from your house like small toys, kitchen items, office supplies, etc. Get creative!

Step 2: Identify parts of the face and sort the items into categories such as eyes, noses, mouths, hair, ears and such.

Step 3: Create a portrait using these objects. Move the items around to see what works best! Have fun!

Step 4: Take a photo and email it to me, or tag @delaneyartroom and @youngschoolartwithmr.g on Instagram! (Mr. G. is another art teacher who thought of this cool lesson!)

Step 5: Return all items where they belong! :-)
